

SEMINARIOS DE ECONOMÍA AMBIENTAL (2007)

“Filling the gap between natural and social science”

29 y 30 de Marzo	Julia Touza Helmholtz Centre for Environmental Research – UFZ, Leipzig, Germany	Curso: Conservación de la biodiversidad: conceptos ecológicos en economía Seminario: "A bioeconomic approach to the Faustmann rule: Ecological interactions and even-aged forest management"
10-11 de Mayo	Unai Pascual University of Cambridge, UK	Curso: The economics of land use change in developing countries Seminario*: Hyperbolic discounting for health hazards from groundwater contamination: An empirical application for Bangladesh
24 y 25 de Mayo	Nick Hanley University of Stirling, UK.	Curso: Environmental Economic Valuation Methods Seminario: Do improvements in energy efficiency reduce CO2 emissions? A CGE study
31de Mayo-1 de Junio	Giuseppe Munda Universidad Autónoma de Barcelona - UAB Joint Research Centre - JRC , Ispra, Italy	Curso: Social Multi-Criteria Evaluation Seminario: "Is Regional Sustainability Compatible with Economic Success? A Computation for Spain Based on Multi-Criteria and Sensitivity Analysis"
21-Junio	Douglas Clyde Wilson The Institute for Fisheries Management and Coastal Community Development-IFM, Denmark	Seminario: "Scale and Aquatic Resource Management: Implications for an Ecosystem Based Approach"

*Organizado por Dpto. FAE II

Lugar: Facultad de Ciencias Económicas (Sarriko), UPV/EHU
Organiza: - Programa de Doctorado en Economía (Análisis Económico, Técnicas Cuantitativas, en Economía y Economía Pública)
 - Instituto de Economía Pública (Unidad de Economía Ambiental)
Contacto: i.arto@ehu.es

Universidad del País Vasco
Euskal Herriko Unibertsitatea
The University of the Basque Country